Welcome to 24/7 Office Hours

Quality Editing & Proofreading Services

WE'VE BEEN THERE: It's the day before an important paper is due and you have writer's block, you have a single essay due which may determine your entire final grade, you want your personal statement to be compelling and error-free so you impress the admissions office of your "dream" school, or you may have invested months into a thesis or dissertation that requires editing. In these situations, quality writing can make the difference between grades, which college you attend, and whether you earn that precious degree.

WE CAN HELP: Our staff knows the value of effective writing and is comprised of professionals with experience in many disciplines -- from art history, astronomy, business, and English, to law, political science, philosophy, psychology, and sociology. We have edited and drafted hundreds of assignments at the secondary, undergraduate, and graduate level, and have attained degrees from some of the most respected institutions of higher education in the world.

WE'RE HERE RIGHT NOW: We understand that your writing needs may arise at any time and as a result we are open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Our services include proofreading for grammatical mistakes, editing for clarity and style, and offering suggestions on how best to improve your written product. We can do it all -- just ask and we'll accommodate any admissions essay or academic writing assignment you may have.
